

SUNDRAGON

Sundragon is a Traditional style 58' narrowboat built in 1989 by Milethorne Marine boat builders.

She looks remarkably good for a boat of her age having been repainted in March 2016.

The bow locker houses 2x13kg gas bottles, but there is ample room in here for another if needed.

The nearly 15ft saloon is entered from here via a door on the starboard side, and down the steps past a good sized wet locker / wardrobe on the left. The Morso stove (which also heats the radiator) is behind the wardrobe, with good shelf and cupboard space opposite. The rest of the saloon houses a leather two seater sofa, a leather swivel captains chair, a matching footstool and a gate-leg dining table.

The galley follows, with a washing machine, sink, 4 gas burner hob, oven & grill, a 12v fridge and microwave. The side hatch here offers additional light and ventilation.

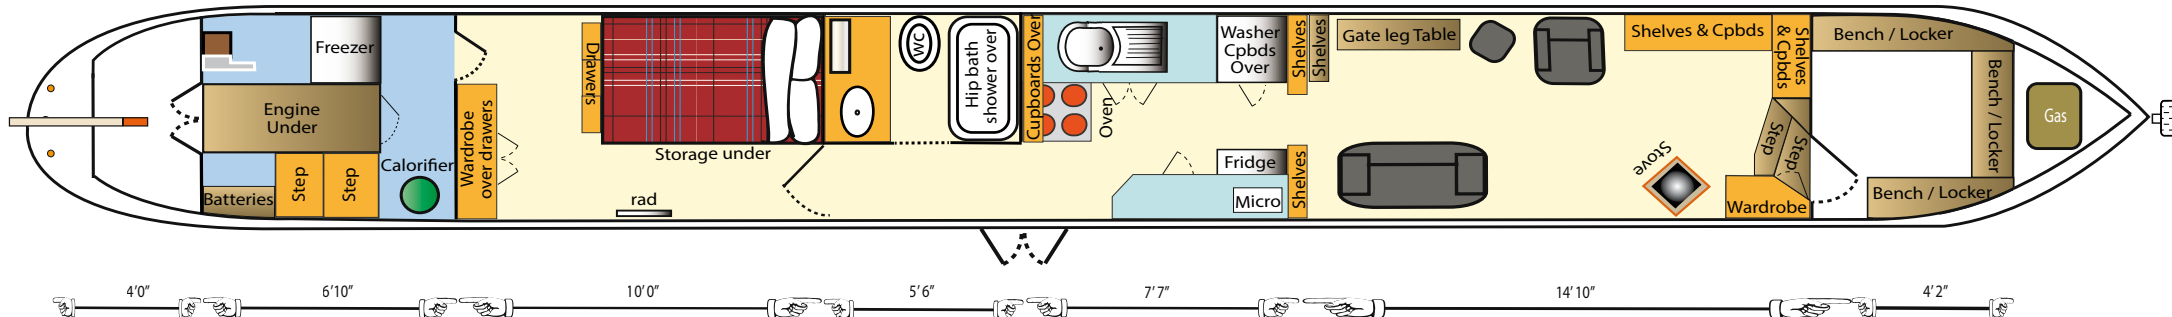

Down through the corridor to the bathroom housing the 4' hip bath (shower over), the Thetford Porta Potti and a basin over a large cupboard. In here is the wall mounted instant gas water heater.

The bedroom is a good size. The bed itself is 6'3" x 4' and has plenty of storage underneath, and there is a large wardrobe over three good sized drawers at the end of the room.

The stern cabin is large at 6' 10 and everything is quite accessible. The BMC engine, battery bank, calorifier and various electrical systems are all easy to get at. There is even a table top 230v freezer in here. Rather unusually, but quite practical, is an engine room roof hatch for additional light and ventilation.

She is fully equipped and ready to live aboard.
